

Association for Paediatric Palliative Medicine

Nurses' Study Day – Tuesday 13 May 2025
Birmingham Women's & Children's Hospital

Provisional Programme

(as at 3 April 2025) (may be subject to slight change)

Time	Content and Speaker/Facilitator
0930-1000	Arrival, registration, and refreshments
1000-1010	Welcome, opening remarks, housekeeping Helen Queen, Lead Nurse, Palliative Care & Bereavement Service, Birmingham Children's Hospital
1010-1140	Organ donation and retrieval (title TBC) SNOD nurses on the practicalities of organ donation and retrieval and with some parental experiential input.
1145-1230	Preparing for organ donation following an antenatal diagnosis of anencephaly: A case report Katrina Williams, Registered Children's Nurse and Perinatal Palliative Care Nurse Consultant, Claire House Children's Hospice
1230-1330	Lunch and networking
1330-1415	From Practice to Policy: What's Shaping Children's Palliative Care? Katie Tallowin, Head of Education and Professional Development, Together for Short Lives James Cooper, Head of External Affairs, Together for Short Lives This session will explore the current landscape of children's palliative care, bringing together insights from clinical nursing practice and the latest national projects led by Together for Short Lives. It will also provide a policy update, including the evolving debate around assisted dying and its implications for children and young people with life- limiting conditions.
Three Breakout sessions – Non-Medical Therapy – Making Living Memories
1415-1600	1. Music therapy (title TBC) Fiona Fellows and Kate Fawcett, Birmingham Women's & Children's Hospital

	2. Providing sibling support and end of life memory making activities Sophie Jenkins, part of the Family Support Team and Rapid Response Team at Claire House Children’s Hospice, near Liverpool The workshop aims to cover all areas of my role and how I am able to provide sibling support for both bereaved and non-bereaved siblings and how this supports them to continue accessing school. I will show how I am keen to provide memory making activities with siblings and families on end-of-life care to bring them together and to make special and important memories at such difficult times. I hope that this presentation will give new and inspiring ideas for making memories with families. 3. Non-Medical Therapy - Social Support Emma Jordan, Youth & Transition Worker, Helen & Douglas House Children’s Hospice A look at the importance of social engagement/network/youth support/121/groups and also highlighting isolation/societal barriers
1600	Close – Lesley Fellows